Idaho Gives on May 7, will you?

Remember, TOMORROW is ?Idaho Gives Day?! Will you? To celebrate and bring awareness to Idaho Gives, we are hosting a Plein Air Paint Out, open to all artists who want to join us. Or, drop by to meet the artists painting along the Henry's Fork Greenway and then swing by the Idaho Art Lab for a Tour. Bill Wilson will be whipping up some dutch oven potatoes for everyone during Taters and a Tour. Our Idaho Gives webpage at www.idahoartlab.org/idaho-gives will tell you all about it. To donate, go to our Idaho Gives webpage here (opens in a new window).

Please give if you can, we have amazing art programming but are still solely volunteer run and struggling financially. Help us create a stable non-profit program to keep us in this community and reach our ultimate goal of creating 4 new jobs and a legacy of quality living in our small community.

The Yellowstone Teton Gallery of Art in the Idaho Art Lab is currently exhibiting the fine art of Gallery 12. Gallery 12 is a band of thirteen artists working in a variety of styles and mediums. They have renounced the idea that a gallery must have the traditional four walls. Instead, they display in numerous venues, delighting the art lover and collector alike with their array of subject matter and style.

Get prepared for the Dunes and Cartoons art show.

Dual Theme: Sand dunes, desert OR cartoons, illustrations & drawings

Deadline for entry: Saturday, June 13, 9:00 p.m.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Photography instructor, Kara Hidalgo, will be leading photographers on dune excursions to photograph the sand dunes, dunes, cacti (they are blooming within weeks!). The Dunes and Cartoons art show usually has an emphasis on photography of the sand dunes. To be notified of on-location photo shoot dates, email Kara at info@idahoartlab.org.

ILLUSTRATORS & CARTOONISTS: This is your chance to show off your talent. We know how hard it is for illustrators and cartoonists to find a gallery to represent their works. Here at the Idaho Art Lab, we understand the talent needed to execute a detailed illustration or cartoon and would love to inspire our local artists and aspiring artists with an exhibit of your work.

This year is the 5th Annual Nature Art Expo at the Nature Conservancy's Flat Ranch Preserve in Island Park. Once again, we are working with TNC to organize this fine art show during Pioneer Days Weekend. We are offering space at the Nature Conservancy's Flat Ranch Preserve for fine artists. Note to artisans and crafters: We would be happy to offer space for crafters but do not want to pull crafters from our friends who organize the antiques and crafts shows this same weekend. Contact Kara Hidalgo at (208) 932-0893 to be considered for a booth or tent.

 Small Works, Big Deal Show art auction *****

Saturday, June 27, 3:00 p.m. - 6:00 p.m.

Bidding closes at 6:00 p.m.

We are asking local artists to donate small works of original art (~ 5" x 7" to 16" x 20") for this fundraiser. Silent bidding starts at $20.00 with some artisan craft items available for as little $5.00. This is a great way to help support your local not-for-profit art center ... and take home a treasure.

A little goes a long way here in rural Idaho. Artists, please consider donating small original works of art. We'd love to have them asap but feel free to bring them with you to the Big Art Expo for us to add to the offering.

The Art Supply Store has ...

- New & Used Frames -
- Lots of craft items -
- Clay by the pound -

Frames: Now, along with our high-end fine art supplies we have used and new frames in all shapes, sizes and colors. Thank you to all of our supporters who donated frames or placed them on consignment. We all know how expensive framing can be. Now there is an inexpensive way to professional frame your artwork for exhibition in our gallery.

Exhibiting Artists: Did you know? You can borrow a used frame to exhibit your artwork in then return it if your piece doesn't sell. If it does sell, you just pay the Lab the retail cost of the frame. We want everyone to have a chance to exhibit!

Craft Items: Our crafty volunteer, Heidi Weatherston, has just added many $1.00 Craft Kits for boys and girls.

Clay: We sell clay in bulk, at a discount, to local schools but the retail price for smaller quantities is $1.00/lb. in 2, 10 & 25 pound bags. This is low fire clay that fires to white and, as one happy customer put it, "is exceptional for pottery or sculpture".

Kiln rental = $25.00 or about $.25/inch (widest width + highest height)

Clay all-inclusive price = $6.00/lb. This cover the cost of clay, bisque firing, glazing and glaze firing.

The Arts in East Idaho

The Idaho Art Lab has East Idaho art organization's calendars, newsletter and event flier posted on our Regional Arts News bulletin board just inside our front door. You can also grab a brochure for all the art organizations from Island Park to Pocatello as well as the Teton Valley. We also try to share information about the region's art events on our Facebook page at www.Facebook.com/IdahoArtLab (opens in a new window) so you can stay up to date on what is happening around the region in the Arts. Lastly, our website's home page has links to all the region's art organizations in the far right column.

Rexburg

Celebrate the Arts in SE Idaho is a new organization headed up by RonaLee Flansburg. Their website is at www.celebratetheartsidaho.org. They saw a need to create a website where people could go and gather information from all of the local art activities including dance, music, theater, visual and literary arts.

RonaLee also set up a Facebook page. The group gathers events information from all the art organizations then posts them on their Facebook page and website. Their facebook page can be linked to here (opens in a new window).

If you are interested in having your site listed please contact them at celebratetheartsidaho@gmail.com

Our Mission Statement

Celebrate The Arts is committed to inspiring a culture of cooperation and creativity within the Upper Snake River Valley through promoting the education, training and expression of high quality art in all its forms.

Upper Valley Art Guild: The UVAG needs your help to strengthen the Guild. In April they decided to move out of their building and were determined to discontinue business. After RonaLee of Celebrate the Arts inspired them with her plans to better connect all the art organizations in the upper valley, they are considering continuing. They are still struggling to find a solid core of leaders since the passing of Richard Bird. Please consider getting involved if you live near Rexburg!

Idaho Falls

The Eagle Rock Art Guild is working to continue their fine arts programming without a building. They have just completed exhibition of their Spring Show (it looked great!) at EITC. Their website is at www.eaglerockartguild-idaho.com and www.eaglerockartguild.org their Facebook page is here. You can read about the building loss, plans for the future and get the May Calendar of Events on their latest newsletter by clicking here (opens in new window).

As the Newsletter says "Always remember that the people make the organization not a building. To be successful, we need to delegate the past to the past... and strive to come together again"

The Idaho Falls Arts Council includes the Colonial Theater, Willard Arts Center and ARTitorium on Broadway.

The 7th Annual National Juried Exhibition is currently on exhibit in the Carr & Hall Galleries. The Idaho Falls National Exhibition is an annual juried exhibition organized by the Idaho Falls Arts Council (IFAC) and exhibited at the Willard Arts Center in Idaho Falls, ID. Artists working in all mediums throughout the United States are invited to submit. Learn more at <http://www.idahofallsarts.org/national-juried-exhibition>.

For more information about the Idaho Falls Art Council, go to www.idahofallsarts.org.

You haven't much more time to see Young At Art at the Art Museum of Eastern Idaho as this exhibit closes May 9! Celebrating TAM's ARTworks education program in schools across eastern Idaho, this annual exhibit showcases over 500 pieces of artwork from school children throughout the region.

Also Featuring . . . 2015 Congressional Art Competition. Contest finalists represent excellence in high school art. The winning piece will hang in Washington DC.
